

Do you spend more time on “stuff” that you dislike or don’t know how to do than you do on the work you love?

Do you want to find, initiate or expand your connection with your community?

Does technology or messaging prevent you from effectively reaching the level you believe you should attain?

I can help.

Ignoring the practical, organizational, administrative, or promotional work for your business or organization carries an extremely high cost that limits your ability to fulfill your mission and do the work you love.

For many people, technology is a huge barrier – you might know just enough to get frustrated. For others, messaging in a simple concise manner is like going to the dentist – it may be a lack of knowledge or resources or next steps; often it’s a lack of confidence and a need for validation.

I often hear from solopreneurs or organizations that they just want to do the work of helping people – not all of the administrative, organizational or promotional stuff that is involved. When I inquire further, what emerges is that they’ve never sat down to figure out what the other “stuff” is, so it is scary and unknown – which often causes paralysis.

What most people really want is reassurance that their vision is doable, support to walk through the tough spots and a system so they can spend most of their time on the work they love.

I provide all of this and the confidence that comes from knowing that you have a competent, accessible partner whenever you want your business to reach higher, or whenever you get stuck in a day.
